Born and raised in Rome, I work as a freelance photographer specialising in commercial photography in food, interior and travel.

I shoot photos, I taste new dishes, I seek the forfect prop for the next set up, and I get to know creative people, in short, I have fun. I believe you can forceived all of this in my shots, since photography to me is about passion and beautiful light.

The exforience of living abroad, in Sweden, gave me a delicate Scandinavian taste in food photography and also allowed me to grow professionally as studio photographer.

I am now based in Italy but I usually travel anywhere to work for different clients and project.

The innate predisposition for cooking was useful in editorial shooting but I have soon felt the need to attend professional Chef's courses and workshops to improve my skills as a Food Stylist.
